The risk and reward indicator illustrates where the sub-fund is positioned in terms of its possible risk and reward. The higher the sub-fund's position on this scale, the greater the possible reward, but also the greater risk of losing money. The risk indicator is calculated using proxy or historical data which cannot be used as a prediction for the future. The risk classification may change over time. A fund in the lowest category does not mean a risk-free investment.

The sub-fund has been placed in category 5. The sub-fund is subject to a medium-high level of risk typical of equity markets, such as macroeconomic trends at a global level, inflation, interest rate fluctuations, corporate incomes, issuer-stability, and currency movements.

Risks which are not adequately captured by the synthetic indicator but which can affect the sub-fund are:

Liquidity risk - when particular investments are difficult to purchase or sell.

Small and mid cap companies risk - investing in the shares of less-researched small-cap companies bears higher risks and potentially higher share price volatility compared to investing in larger, more matured and better researched companies.

Operational risks - due to technical issues for example natural disasters, misunderstandings and fraud.

A full explanation of all the risks affecting the sub-fund is included in the prospectus.
